Come join us in Annapolis to march for the schools children need to succeed and thrive in Maryland!

ACLU of Maryland is co-sponsoring this event on Monday, March 11th at 6pm which will bring thousands of education advocates from across the state.

Maryland legislators have the historic chance to fix the $2.9 billion funding gap impacting Maryland's schools. But now some leaders in Annapolis are saying educators and students have to wait ANOTHER YEAR before they finally fix this problem. We still don't have a bill on the Kirwan recommendations. Our kids can't wait. It's time to give them the support they deserve. So on March 11th we're marching to make sure that every student in every neighborhood has a great public school and an equal opportunity for success.

On March 11th, march with us to the State House.* It's time to show up and fight for our kids, educators, and schools — we need you there.

Together we can win:

- Equitable and adequate funding for ALL schools and students
- More staff, including counselors and psychologists
- Raises for teachers and living wages for support staff
- Expanded career and technical education
- Pre-kindergarten for 3- and 4-year-olds
- More funding for special education and English language learners
- Community schools and support for families

*The march itself will begin at 6 p.m. from Navy Stadium (the corner of Rowe Boulevard and Herbert Sachs Boulevard) towards the State House and speakers' stage (located at the corner of Rowe Boulevard and Calvert Street).

IMPORTANT: RSVP and get answers to important questions about getting signed up to take a bus, the agenda, who's speaking, where to park, accommodations for people with limited mobility, and more!
