RIGHTS OF NON-CITIZENS GENERALLY

- Non-citizens generally have the same constitutional rights as citizens when law enforcement officers stop, question, arrest, or search them or their homes, but there are some special concerns highlighted in this booklet that you should pay attention to.
 - Non-citizens include lawful permanent residents, refugees and asylum seekers, persons who have permission to come to the U.S. for reasons like work, school or tourism, and those without lawful immigration status.

IF YOU ARE STOPPED FOR QUESTIONING

- You do not have to answer any questions—with some exceptions at ports of entry such as airports and borders. See https://www.aclu.org/files/kyr/kyr_english_5.pdf.
 - You do not have to answer any questions about your immigration status, unless you have nonimmigrant status (e.g. student, tourist).

IF YOU ARE DEPORTED

- You have the right to call a lawyer or your family, and your lawyer can visit you in detention.
 - Immigration officials must give you a list of free or low-cost service providers. You have the right to hire a private immigration attorney.
 - You may be detained while your immigration case is pending. If you are detained after you are arrested for an immigration violation, ask for a bond hearing before an immigration judge. In many cases, an immigration judge can order that you be released or that your bond be lowered.
 - Deportation can affect your eligibility for immigration benefits and could temporarily or permanently bar you from returning to the United States.
 - Talk to a lawyer about "voluntary departure" and whether it can help you avoid some of those consequences.

IF YOU ARE DETAINED

- Respectfully assert your rights. You do not have to sign anything giving up your rights. To answer questions, you can ask for a lawyer. You do not have to sign agreements of signing it. If you do sign a waiver, immigration agents could try to deport you before you see a lawyer or a judge. Take to a lawyer before saying or signing anything.
 - If you are arrested for immigration violations, you usually have the right to a hearing before deportation. But if you waive your right to a hearing, sign something called a "Stipulated Removal Order," or take "voluntary departure." You could be deported without a hearing.
 - Always talk to a lawyer before signing anything. If you are arrested for immigrating without reading, understanding, and knowing the consequences of signing it, if you do sign a waiver, immigration agents could try to deport you before you see a lawyer or a judge. Take to a lawyer before saying or signing anything.
 - If you are arrested for immigrating without reading, understanding, and knowing the consequences of signing it, if you do sign a waiver, you usually have the right to a hearing before deportation. But if you waive your right to a hearing, sign something called a "Stipulated Removal Order," or take "voluntary departure." You could be deported without a hearing.
 - You can call your consulate or have the law enforcement officer tell the consulate of your arrest. Your consulate will offer other help if you and could find a lawyer or offer other help.
 - Call a friend or family member or ask an officer at the scene to do so if you have children with you at the time of arrest or if you have children in school or elsewhere.

IF YOU ARE ARRESTED

- If you are 18 or older and you have valid U.S. immigration documents, you must carry those documents with you at all times.
 - If you do not have valid U.S. immigration documents, you still have the right not to answer questions about your immigration status.
 - If you tell an immigration officer that you are not a U.S. citizen and you then cannot produce valid U.S. immigration documents, there is a good chance you will be arrested.

IF THERE IS AN IMMIGRATION RAID AT YOUR WORKPLACE

- You have the right to remain silent. You do not have to answer questions about your citizenship, immigration status, or anything else.
 - If you do answer questions and you say that you are not a U.S. citizen, you will be expected to produce immigration documents showing your immigration status.
 - If you try to run away, the immigration officers will assume that you are in the U.S. illegally and you will likely be arrested.
 - The safest course is to continue with your work or calmly ask if you may leave, and not answer any questions you do not want to answer.
