Possible Protest Groups:

Baltimore Emergency Response Network (BERN):

BERN started protesting NSA's US military involvement (in particular the Military's potential use of space) in 1996. This appeared to have ended in 2001, following an NSA protest on October 12, 2001, when BERN members [REDACTED] and [REDACTED] activists [REDACTED] and Sister Ardeth Platte, O.P. attempted to deliver a letter to Lt. General Michael V. Hayden, head of the National Security Agency, demanding a meeting. NSA officials would not permit a meeting with Gen. Hayden and [REDACTED] and Platte poured their own blood on the asphalt roadway to represent all victims of the NSA. Each demonstrator was arrested and charged with trespass [six months/$2500 fine], destruction of government property [one year] and conspiracy [1 to 5 years]. The protesters were arraigned in U.S. District Court in Ballimore on March 22, 2002 but the government never scheduled a trial and the case appears to have been dismissed. [REDACTED]
